Date: March 24, 2014

To assist Bureau of Developmental Disabilities (BDDS) providers with delivery of the Wellness Coordination service, the Division of Disability and Rehabilitative Services (DDRS) has developed a document entitled “Wellness Coordination: A Guide for Providers,” made available on its Announcements webpage.

This guide includes information about Wellness Coordination and its purpose; required data points and suggested components of assessments and wellness plans; and the process and timelines by which providers should complete requirements of the service. For questions related to this guide or other facets of the Wellness Coordination service and its process, please contact BQISHelp@fssa.in.gov.
